Just imagine what it would be like to be as small as a mouse; or as big as a house. Imagine exploring the depths of the ocean, travelling into the past or the future – or something even stranger...

This wonderfully inventive and interactive book allows a child to tell their own story, combining new elements each time. And with intricately detailed illustrations for parents and children to pour over together, this really is a book to share time and time again.

Treasure Your Imagination Library Books. As children’s reading ability improves, they will often like to go back and read for themselves the books they got when they were younger. Even if you think your child has grown out of one of their books, it’s a good idea to keep it, as it’s likely they will love to rediscover it for themselves in a few months or even years. Read about Teddy and his love of books.

Make Up Your Own Stories Together... The final book your child receives is "Just Imagine", a wonderful book which sparks your child’s imagination and creativity. Packed full of imaginative ideas that will get you both dreaming, imagining and inventing stories of your own.

Once your child turns five, they’ll graduate from the Imagination Library, however this is just the start of a lifelong love of books and reading. You can continue sharing stories with your children for free through your local library.

Discover drawing tips from Nick Sharratt.

Find out more about Books for Life.

Making ten minutes a day to share books with your child will make a huge difference to their development.

www.northlincs.gov.uk/imaginationlibrary