

BABY TOUCH ANIMALS

by Ladybird

This fun book of farm animals is full of pictures to engage your baby.

Cuddle up close and make the sound for each animal in the book.... moo, oink, neigh, baa!

How vision develops.

In the first few months of life, your baby's vision is still developing.

At first your baby can only focus on close objects. They will love looking at faces, especially yours, as well as black and white pictures and patterns.

Give your baby plenty of time and encouragement to focus on each picture as you share the book together.

For more information visit:

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/tiny-happy-people/amazing-babies-mini-vision/zjhtxyc>

Black and White Pictures

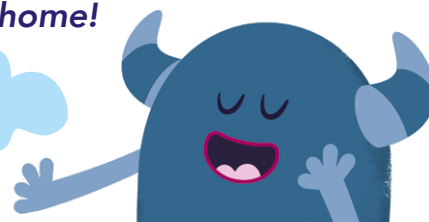

Make some simple black and white patterns and faces to show your baby. Use white paper plates, paper or card and a black marker pen.

You could also collect black and white objects or fabrics from around your home for your baby to explore safely with you.

This Little Piggy

*This little piggy went to market,
this little piggy stayed at home.
This little piggy had roast beef,
and this little piggy had none.
But this little piggy went wee, wee, wee,
all the way home!*

www.scottishbooktrust.com/songs-and-rhymes/this-little-piggy

Gently touch one of your baby's toes for each of the "piggies".

Wait a moment before the last little piggy goes... 'wee all the way home', then run your fingers up their legs and tickle their tummy.