

100 BIRDS

By Michael Whaite

Jail bird, snail bird, showing off his tail bird... find 100 feathered friends packed into the pages of this laugh-out-loud picture book.

Look closely at the different birds on each page and use different words to describe them as you share the book with your child.

What's that sound?

Talking about sounds with your child is a great way to interact and build their conversation.

Go on a listening walk outdoors and see which sounds capture your child's interest.

Perhaps you will be able to hear some birds singing.

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/tiny-happy-people/whats-that-sound/znnqmr>

Make your own binoculars.

Have a look out the window and see what you and your little one can spot through these binoculars.

Watch the video below for the full instructions.

You can play a game of I spy, or just follow your little one's lead.

How about going on a pretend safari adventure in your garden? There are endless things to play with this homemade toy.

The more you play, the more you can build up your child's vocabulary with describing words.

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/tiny-happy-people/how-to-make-binoculars/zb33bdm>

Two Little Dickie Birds

*Two little dickie birds sitting on a wall, one named Peter and one named Paul.
Fly away Peter and fly away Paul,
come back Peter and come back Paul.*

Listen to Mr Tumble and join in with the actions as you say the rhyme. Try changing the names as you say the rhyme...swap Peter and Paul for your child's name and a sibling or friend.

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/cbeebies/watch/something-special-two-little-birdies>